Export-import in Romania - an overview

- Trade has existed since the world and will last as long as people need goods.
- It is equally true that, in trade, things are in constant motion, and the digital and technological revolution is changing not only manufacturing, but also the actual conduct of business.
- Export-import in Romania - an overview
- Romania ranks 25th worldwide in the Atlas of Economic Complexity, with a projected annual growth rate of 3%.
- The ranking made by the Center for International Development of Harvard University is based on statistical data from the world export-import sector provided by the International Monetary Fund and analyzes in detail the economic performance of the most important countries in the world.
- In the last 10 years, Romania has climbed five positions in the mentioned ranking, which means that now there are more business opportunities for Romanian companies compared to previous years.
- At the same time, the fields in which export-import activities can be successfully carried out are more and more numerous and diversified.
- The IT&C services sector, which is expanding not only in Romania, also has a significant contribution to the value of recent Romanian exports.
- They are joined, according to a recent study published by the Competition Council, by the export of various manufactured goods, ie clothing and accessories, footwear and the like, one of the few sectors in which a trade surplus has been observed.
- The European Union is the main export market chosen by Romanian companies, with a percentage of 76%, while only 24% of companies choose to export to the non-EU market. The reason is most often the difficult procedures for access to these markets and the difficulty of identifying distributors.
